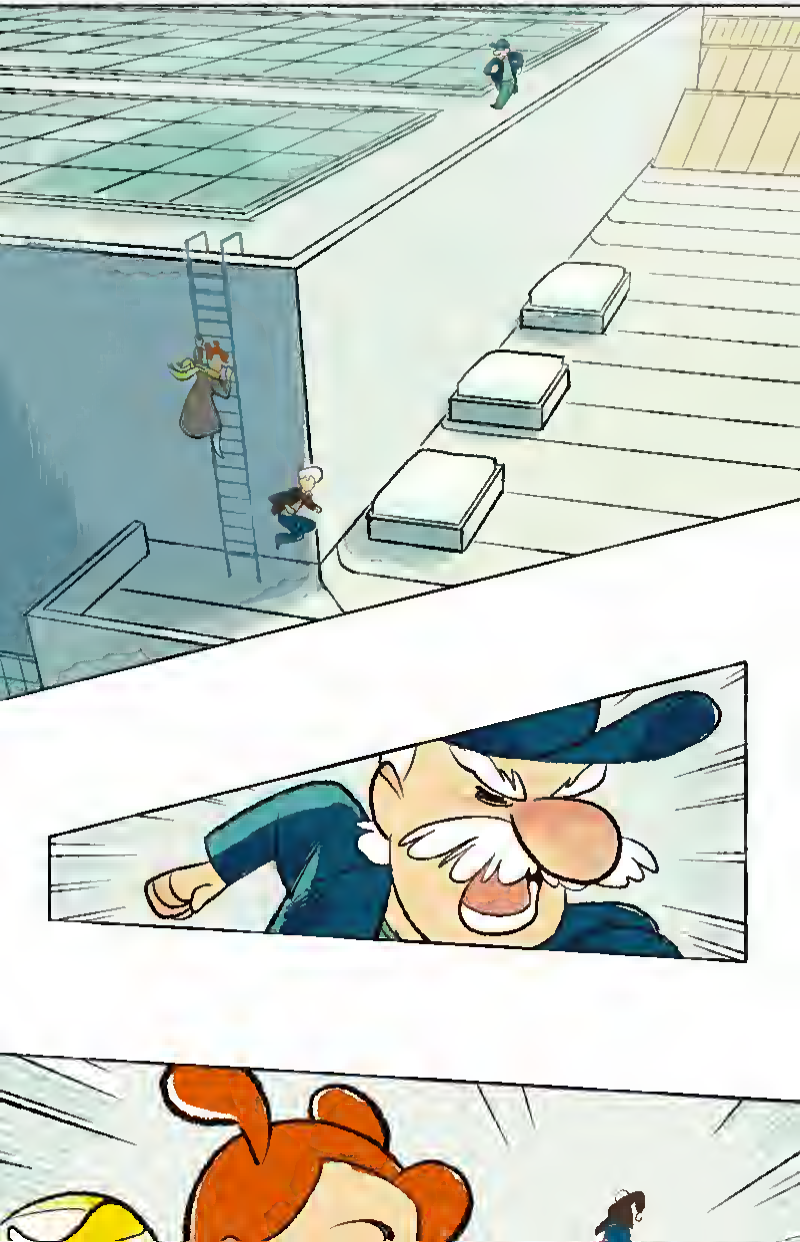
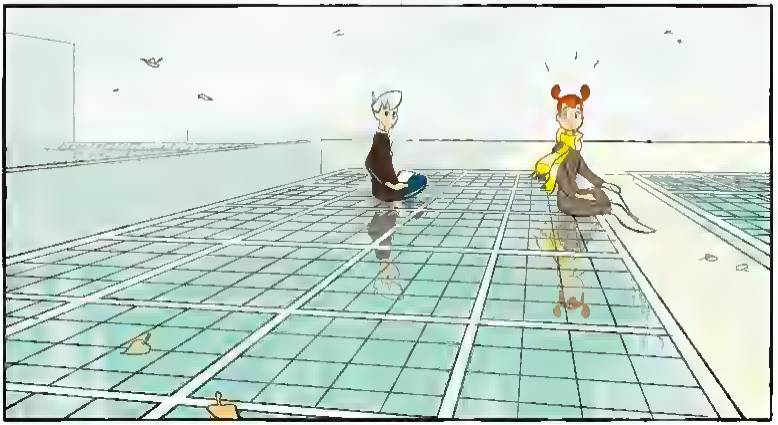
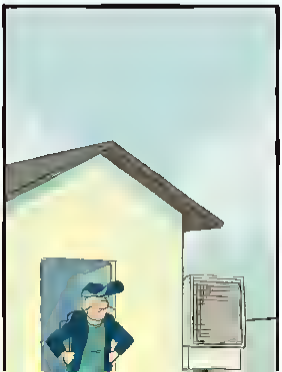
"Chibi Amy. I hope you like it!!!
(It's if she died her hair rainbow, too)"

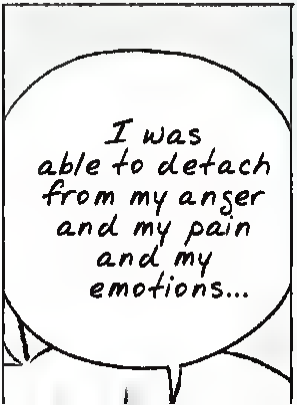


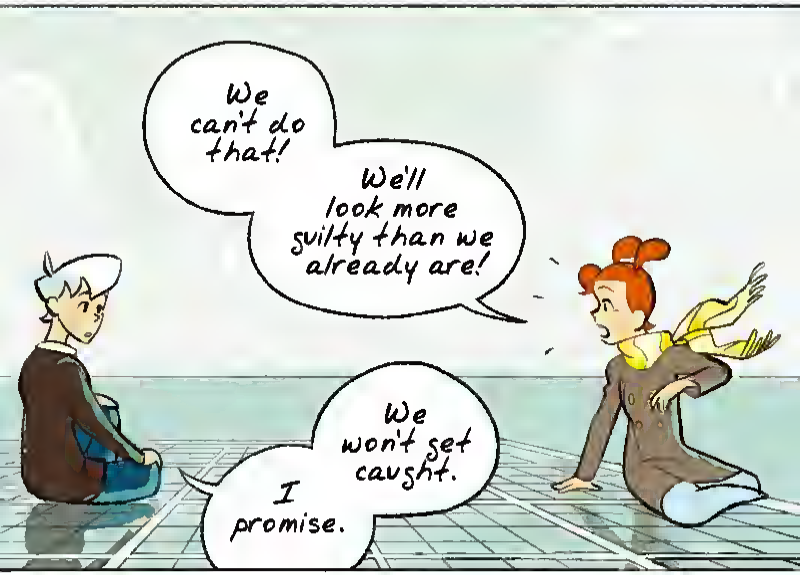




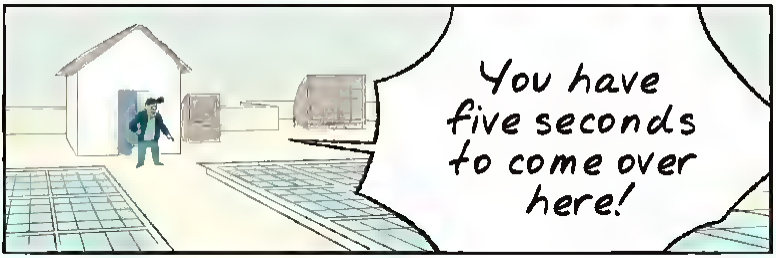
Well, one day I sat up and stared deep into the void and told myself: "This is it. This is all there is, and all there ever will be."

And once I accepted the Nothing I felt Nothing. Which for me was a kind of freedom.

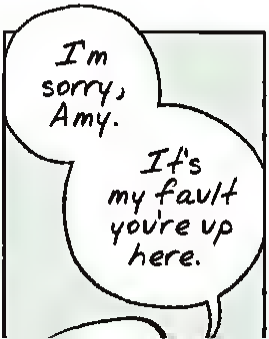




We can't do that!
We'll look more guilty than we already are!
We won't get caught.
I promise.



You have five seconds to come over here!

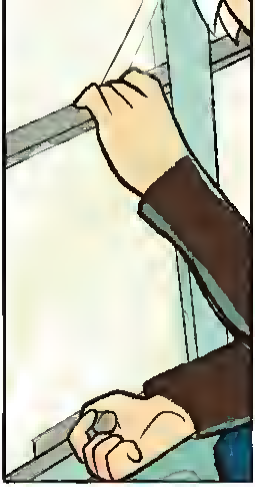


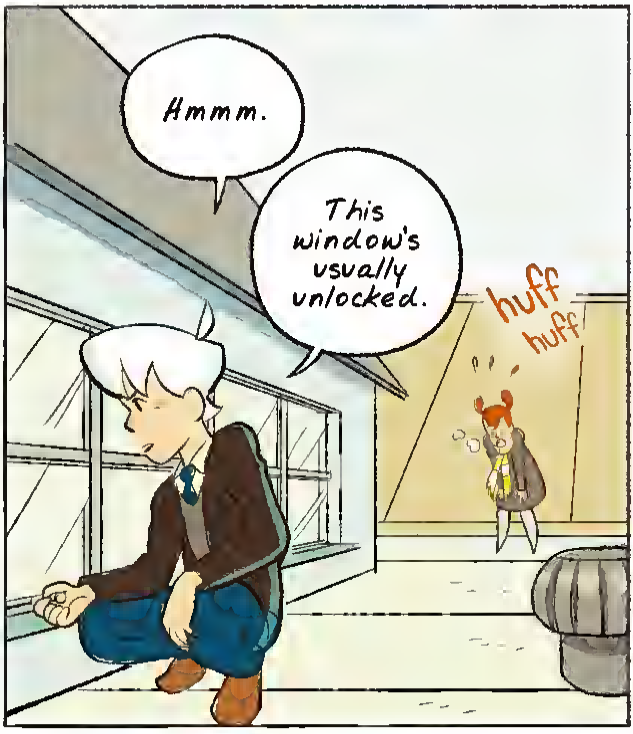
I'm sorry, Amy.
It's my fault you're up here.

THREE!

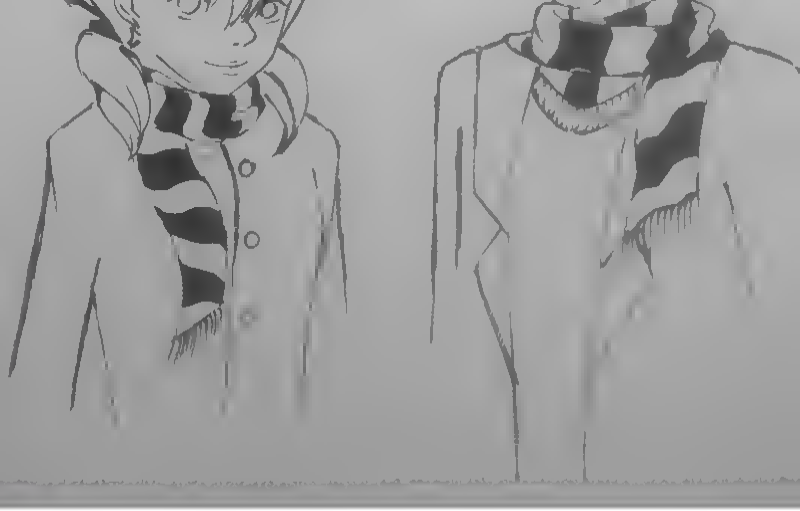
Helena

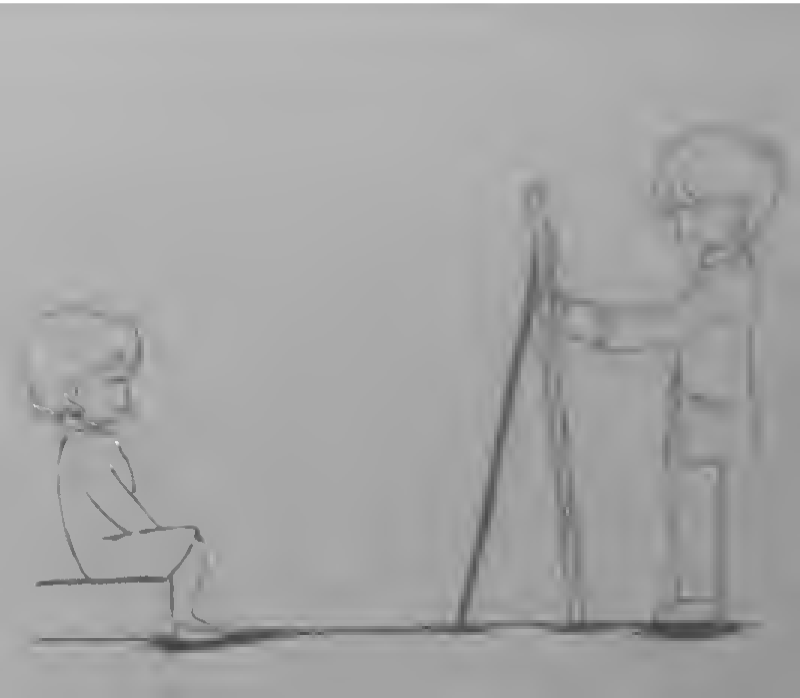
"I LOVE SPACE BOY, thank you for doing it!
I really want to know more!"





Hmmm.
This window's usually unlocked.
huff
huff





I just don't like that.
Disconnecting yourself... from yourself.
It sounds like dying.

How do you deal with pain then?
What do you do when life hurts?

Hmmm...

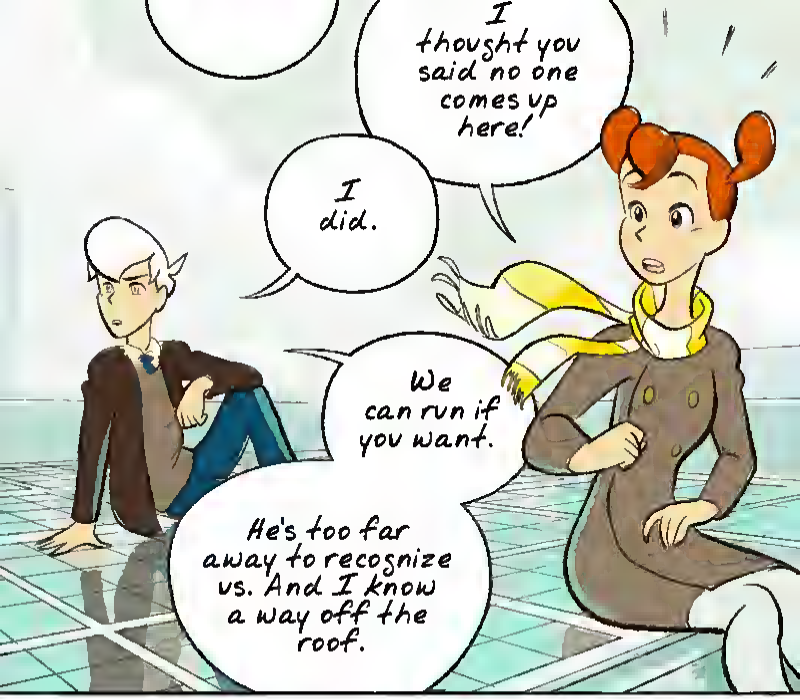
Oliver!



I thought you said no one comes up here!
I did.
We can run if you want.
He's too far away to recognize us. And I know a way off the roof.

Hey! I'm talking to you!

Heba

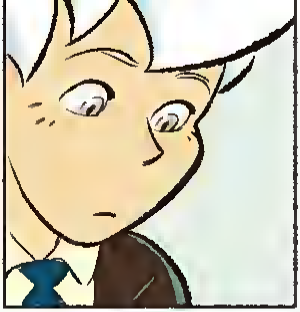
"I really want to see Oliver drawing Amy in the comic, this will be very romantic."

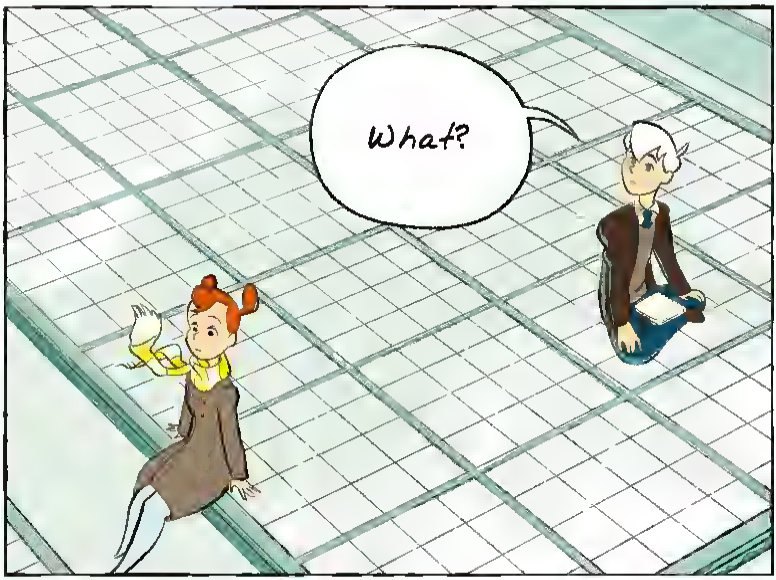
Okay.
Let's run.
TW--

I'm still trying to figure that out.

HEY!

That is...
...SUCH A GOOD IDEA.
I might have to do that.





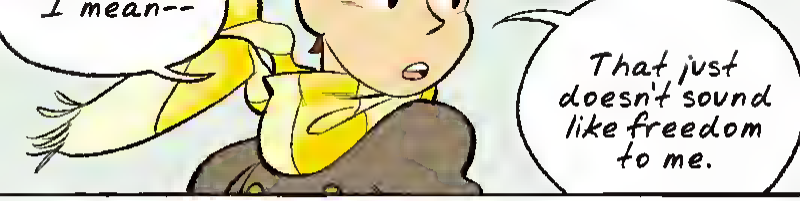
What?

Sorry,

FIVE!

Please.
Let me set you out of this mess.

FOUR!

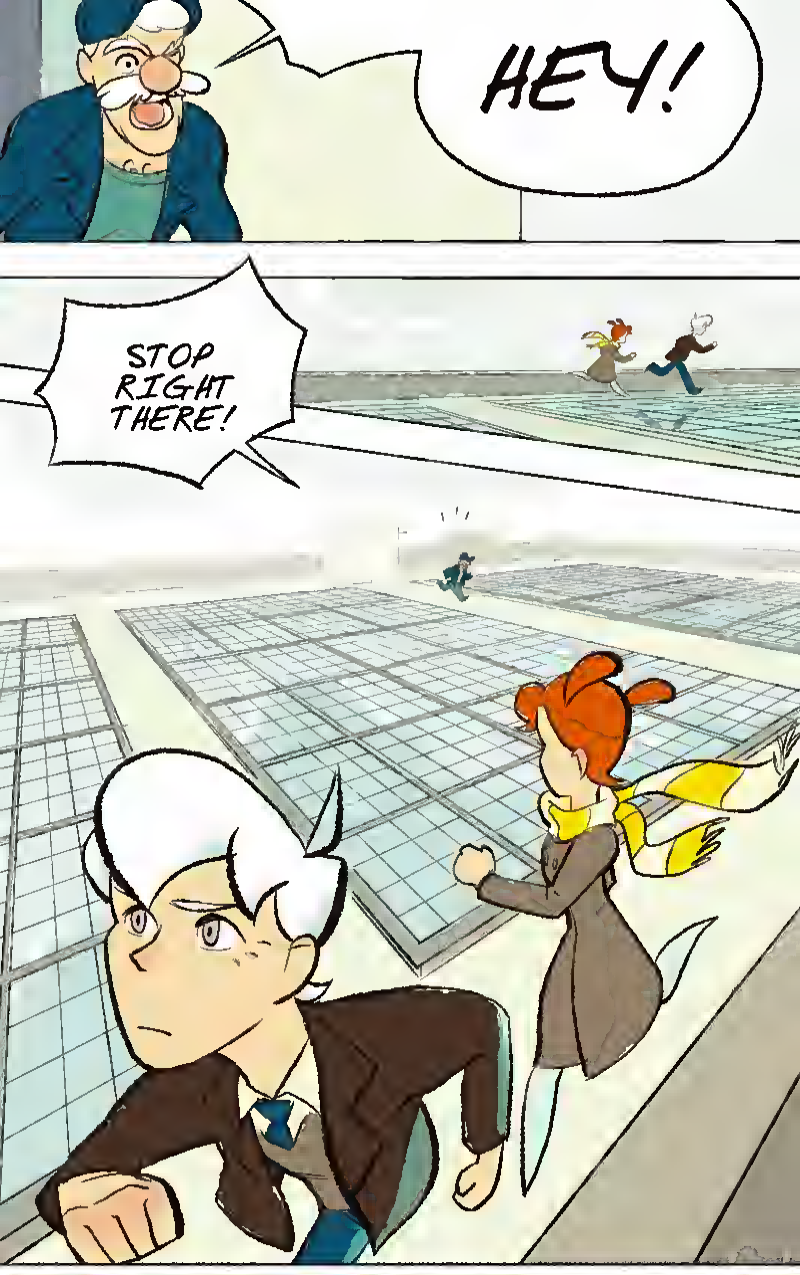


I mean--
That just doesn't sound like freedom to me.

It's not freedom, I guess.
But it's not slavery either.

It's neither.
It's Nothing.

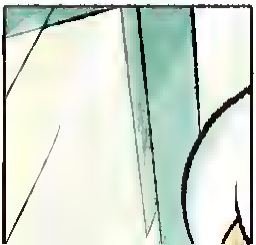
And your flavor...



HEY!
STOP RIGHT THERE!

We'll have to hide for now to buy us some time.

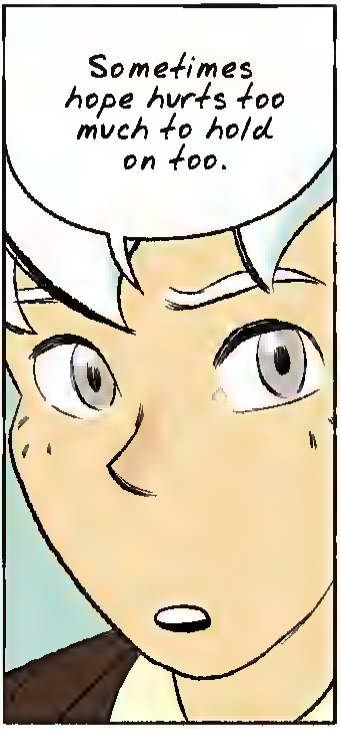
Follow me.



Oliver, I don't think I can take much more of this.

I suck at running.

That sounds so hopeless though...



Sometimes hope hurts too much to hold on too.

Yeah, but--
I don't know.

Li

"Hopefully, Amy apologizes to the janitor one day!"

After today's episode she might need to apologize for a lot...

I will be posting more fan art next week, so please send yours in if you're still interested in submitting.

Thank you guys!
Hopefully I will see some of you at NYCC next week!
